Coast mayors meet to discuss possible solutions

BY GEOFF BELCHER
NEWS EDITOR

Mayors from all along the Mississippi Gulf Coast met in an emergency session in Biloxi on Tuesday to discuss the ongoing damage the Coast's sea life and economy are suffering from the Bonnet Carre Spillway opening.

"The Coast is being devastated as we speak from the intrusion of freshwater," Waveland Mayor Mike Smith said after the meeting Tuesday. "Hancock County -- Waveland in particular -- we're the first in line on the Coast to be affected."

The U.S. Army Corps of Engineers opened the Bonnet Carre Spillway for the second time this year on May 10 in order to reduce the risk of flooding in New Orleans and surrounding communities. The Corps had previously kept open for 44 days between February and April. It marked the first time in history the spillway had been opened twice in the same year due to the impact of the freshwater entering the Lake Pontchartrain basin and the Mississippi Sound.

The mayoral contingent met on Tuesday at the request of Biloxi Mayor Andrew "FoFo" Gillich, who assembled a panel of experts to explain the gravity of the situation. One of those panelists, Smith said, was Dr. Moby Solangi, executive director of the Institute for Marine Mammal Studies (IMMS) in Gulfport.

Waveland's Ground Zero Museum to host Hurricane Preparedness Day

BY CASSANDRA FAVRE
STAFF WRITER

The Waveland Ground Zero Hurricane Museum will host

Hurricane Preparedness Day this Friday, May 31.

Museum Board President Lili Stahler said this is the first event of its kind for the museum.

"This is a service for the community," she said. "It will be good information for people to know about if and when they need to evacuate."

MEMA Director Greg Michel and Hancock County EMA Director Brian Adam will be on hand to provide information, Stahler said.

In addition, MDOT will provide evacuation maps. Local first-responders will also be in attendance, she added.

"The reason we are doing it on May 31 is because June 1 is the beginning of hurricane season," Stahler said. "Although we don't want or expect to evacuate, we should have all the tools that you need to evacuate and where to go. Those who evacuated for other storms know that you don't always bring the right things with you."

The event begins at 10 a.m. and lasts until noon, with refreshments provided.

The long Memorial Day weekend offered plenty of opportunities for celebration in Hancock County -- such as graduation ceremonies and the annual St. Clare Seafood Festival -- but it also afforded a chance to remember those in the armed services who gave their lives

The St. Clare Fest kicked off on Friday with a "Tribute to the Military" and first-responders, led by parish priest Fr. Jacob-Matthew Smith. The tribute included a flag-raising ceremony led by the Bay High School AFJROTC and former U. S. Rep. Gene Taylor.

VFW Post 2880, the Diamondhead Country Club and Property Owners Association, Inc. and the City of Diamondhead hosted the city's annual Memorial Service on Saturday under the oaks at the Diamondhead Country Club. Rear Admiral John Okon, Commander, Naval Meteorology and Oceanography Command served as the guest speaker.

Driver Service Bureau kicks off campaigns to enhance customer experience

SEA COAST ECHO
B ILOXI, MS - On Tuesday, May 28, 2019, Commissioner of Public Safety Marshall Fisher along with the Driver Service Bureau (DSB) held a press conference at Troop K to announce the launch of the Opiniator and JumpStart campaigns, both geared towards enhancing the overall day to day experience received by customers obtaining services through DSB offices statewide.
"The DPS Driver Service Bureau probably touches more citizens daily than any state agency. Improving this experience for Mississippians is a top priority", stated Commissioner Fisher. The Opiniator real time surveying system will bring the DSB into the 21st Century for rating customer service and allow the agency to reach a broader scope of customers through this technology. This system will be implemented in all driver license stations, and the collected data will be shared among staff as an opportunity to quickly see where improvements are needed. Commissioner Fisher added, "the Opiniator will provide customers with a platform to give constructive feedback in a manner that will assist the DPS Driver Service Bureau in developing solutions for the improvement of customer service."
With summer approaching, the agency's new JumpStart (Students Access to Road Test) Program will allow students 15 years and older to schedule Saturday appointments for written and road tests, as well as allow them to receive a driver's license.
"The JumpStart program will not only help with weekly wait times but is also intended as a convenient avenue for working parents," stated Major Ken Brown, Director of the Driver Service Bureau. Visit www.driverservicebureau.dps.ms.gov to learn more about services provided by the Driver Service Bureau.

"Listening to him scared me to death for our Coastal Economy," Smith said. "It's having a dramatic effect on our marine life," Smith said. "I think there's 92 dolphins, as of today, that have died from the intrusion of the freshwater, and there are a lot of endangered species, like the Kemp's Ridley turtles, that are in dying. The shrimp are a lot smaller than they usually are at this time of the year. The oysters are down already about 35 percent from last year.

"Once the egg larvae from the blue crabs and shrimp are gone, that's it, and the oysters can't go anywhere."

Not only the marine life is being damaged, Smith said, because a great portion of the Coast's economy is based on the seafood industry, particularly oyster harvesters and shrimpers who live and work in Hancock County.
"I've heard there are a lot of businesses that may not even exist after this," Smith said.

The mayors on Tuesday formed a panel that will meet frequently to work on solutions to the problem, including a possible trip to Washington, D.C. to speak directly to the nation's legislators.
There was no time frame for action, Smith said, but "it should be very, very soon."

An online trend

Over the weekend, I complimented two women on their dresses.

I also inquired as to where they purchased them, because I was interested in acquiring one or both for my wardrobe.

Both replied, "Amazon.com."

It got me thinking about how prevalent the ever-increasing trend toward online shopping is becoming.

Recently, Dressbarn announced the closing of all its 650 stores.

While I didn't shop there too often, one shopping trip will always remain memorable.

A nice sales lady at the store in Slidell helped me find the perfect dress to wear to my very first Associated Press awards. It was the first award I ever received for my writing.

Payless also recently shut the doors on its stores.

Prior to Hurricane Katrina, as I'm sure you will remember, there was a Payless store located next to the now-defunct K-mart store.

I firmly believe my shoe addiction was born in that store and I have fond memories of shopping there and looking for a fancy pair of shoes to wear with whatever fancy dress my mom sewed for me and my sister.

Last year, Toys R Us also closed its doors. Even as an adult, I enjoyed playing with the toys on display.

There was a lovely small boutique in Poplarville where I bought a fancy dress to attend my first showing of "The Phantom of the Opera" at the Saenger Theatre. That shop is also closed now.

While it may or may not be the main culprit, online shopping has definitely had an effect on these brick-and-mortar stores.

I also enjoy the convenience of online shopping. Just last week, as I was scrolling through Instagram, I clicked on a photo of a product and was immediately brought to a check-out screen. I made my purchase through the application and it took less than five minutes.

If a store is located more than an hour away, it's cheaper for me to purchase it online, oftentimes with free shipping, and have it shipped to my home.

Some items, like my skincare brand of choice, The Ordinary, can only be purchased online.

But on the other hand, I still enjoy a day of shopping with family and friends. Just this past weekend, I went shopping with my mom, sister, and nephew. (Yes, I bought him a toy at the Disney store).

We also tried on clothes. As someone who has recently lost some weight, my wardrobe is in need of some retail therapy.

I'm not a fan of buying clothing or shoes online. I like prised of a large group of boys and girls from around the city.

On this particular Wednesday afternoon, May 22nd, a large number of Student Ministry youth were joined by some family members, friends, and supporters including NAACP Branch President Gregory Barabino and 1st Vice President Floren Dedeaux. The kids enjoyed themselves playing basketball, using the trampoline and water slide or sitting around talking with each other and the visitors.

Not so much so however for some Student Ministry members who were very busy. Dauenhauer reported that members at times have responsibilities as greeters or serve in the church kitchen. Some others work on the technical side manning projectors and playing music.

In our conversation with Ms. LaFontaine "Big Mama", as she is often called, talked about herself as being "grandmother to everybody". After discovering that her daughter had an addiction as well as other issues that put her into the DHS (Department of Human Services) system, she became a foster parent for her granddaughter. While her daughter was receiving help Brandy "prayed to God" to get her child back. With her prayers answered, both mother and daughter joined Calvary Chapel where Brandy met Pastor Dauenhauer, called "Brother Bear", who invited her to help him with his youth program.

Pastor Dauenhauer stressed, "The program is a Student Ministry, not an adult ministry."

Allergic Reactions to Insect Stings

Allergic reactions to insect stings are a common and often serious medical problem. Insects that sting are divided into two major subgroups: the group consisting of the yellow jacket, hornet and wasp; and the one made up of the more docile honeybee and bumblebee. The fire ant is a non-winged member of the first group and is responsible for an increasing number of allergic reactions.

According to the late Dr. William M. McKell, "Reactions to stings are divided into two major categories, local and systemic. The usual and expected reaction is one of localized pain, swelling and redness at the site."

"The first step in management is to remove any retained stinger. Bees have a multi-barbed stinger which, along with the venom gland, remains

Conservation Corner

by James L. Cummins

attached to the victim. This needs to be scraped away from the skin with a sharp object such as a fingernail or knife blade (do not grasp the stinger for this may inject additional venom). Essentially no treatment is required for this self-limited reaction other than possibly cold compresses and over the counter pain medication.

Some advocate the application of moist tobacco or meat tenderizer (papain), and they may well be of benefit, however, I have never seen data supporting or refuting their use," continued McKell.

A large local reaction, such as swelling of the entire arm secondary to a sting on the hand, consists of more discomfort and prolonged swelling. These may well last a week. According to McKell, management here usually consists of over the counter pain medication and antihistamines; if the swelling is extensive and disabling, oral cortisone-type drugs may be of benefit. McKell states that it is unknown why such reactions occur, but in persons that develop them, they are more likely to have such reactions in the future.

"A severe and sometimes fatal systemic reaction is called anaphylaxis. It will usually begin within 20 to 30 minutes of the sting and consist of generalized hives and swelling, difficulty breathing and/or circulatory collapse and shock. This is a true medical emergency resulting in 40 to 150 deaths per year in the United States, requiring immediate professional attention," states McKell.

The fire ant will bite anything that invades his bed, hold on with his jaws and rotate his body, inflicting multiple stings, typically in a circular pattern. "These appear infected, but are not. I include this only to discourage the routine use of antibiotics for such a sting," concluded McKell.

Individuals who have had a systemic reaction should consider evaluation by an allergist. Adults who have experienced this have a 30 to 60 percent risk of having another systemic reaction if stung again.

Governor's Obesity Initiative Kicks Off

SEA COAST ECHO

JACKSON, Miss. — The Mississippi State Department of Health (MSDH) and Families First for Mississippi on May 16 hosted a summit of at least 200 health professionals and community leaders to combat the growing number of obese adults and children in the state.

The event, Taking Charge for a Healthy Mississippi, is part of Gov. Phil Bryant's obesity initiative.

The number of obese adults in the state has risen nearly 60 percent in 15 years, from 23.7 percent in 2000 to 37.3 percent in 2016. If nothing is done to stop the growth, the obesity rate could reach 66.7 percent by 2030.

"There is absolutely no time to waste," said MSDH State Health Officer Dr. Thomas Dobbs. "Excess weight and limited physical activity are robbing Mississippi residents of opportunities for prosperity and good health," he said.

In 2015, 40 percent of school-aged children and youth were overweight or obese. Just like adults in the state, those children are at increased risk for developing heart disease, type 2 diabetes, high blood pressure and cancer.

"We are looking for evidence-based strategies to reduce obesity in the state. All options are on the table. We discussed ideas that will work and will have measurable results," said Dr. Dobbs. "We are working for real change," said Dobbs.

"Throughout Mississippi we are aware that there are challenges with eating healthy which may lead to obesity and other health disparities.

The Governor's Obesity Initiative will afford great opportunities for communities to influence and impact health and nutrition across generations," said Nancy New, Ph.D., Executive Director of Mississippi Families First.

Summit participants were tasked with identifying the best practices, opportunities and challenges faced while implementing initiatives designed to lower obesity rates across all age groups in Mississippi.

The main priority of the event was to discuss obesity prevention and ways that community-based organizations, traditional health care systems and government agencies can collaborate to better serve their communities.

A follow-up summit will be held in late summer or early fall.

Health Officials Conclude Measles Exposure Investigation

SEA COAST ECHO

The Mississippi State Department of Health (MSDH) has concluded its investigation of potential exposure to measles from a Tennessee traveler to Mississippi between April 9th and 11th.

MSDH's follow-up investigation did not identify any measles cases in Mississippi from exposure to this traveler.

"The incubation period for developing measles from exposure to this traveler has passed. Any potential measles exposure would have developed symptoms by now," said MSDH State Health Officer Dr. Thomas Dobbs. "We are grateful that, because of our strong immunization laws, Mississippians were protected from infection. More than 99 percent of Mississippi school-aged children have received a complete dose of the measles, mumps and rubella (MMR) vaccine."

Dobbs added that there are currently several active outbreaks of measles throughout the nation and in other countries, and measles is spreading rapidly in unvaccinated groups.

"This could easily happen again, so it is important that all Mississippians make sure that they are up to date on their measles vaccinations to avoid future risks," he said.

Measles is a serious respiratory disease of the lungs and breathing tubes that starts with a high fever, followed soon after by a cough, runny nose and red eyes.

On the third to seventh day of illness, a rash of tiny, red spots appears. The rash starts at the head and spreads to the rest of the body. Symptoms usually appear about 11 days after exposure with a range of seven to 21 days.

Measles spreads when a person infected with the measles virus breathes, coughs or sneezes. It is very contagious, with the virus lingering in a room where a person with measles has been for up to two hours. Measles can be serious.

It can lead to pneumonia, encephalitis (swelling of the brain) and death. Young children are at higher risk for complications, especially those under 12 months old who are too young to receive the measles vaccination.

For more information on measles, visit HealthyMS.com/measles.

trying things on to see if they look right and fit properly.

Many times, I've ordered clothes and shoes online only to have to box them up and return them because they didn't fit.

While I'm a fan of online shopping, I hope that it doesn't end up destroying small businesses or some of the other retail outlets that provide an actual place to visit and shop.

Sure, it may be convenient to shop from the comfort of your home, but online shopping doesn't provide the camaraderie that comes along when shopping with family and friends, the joy of supporting small business owners, or helping support retail employees.

describing the large group of young boys and girls involved. "Also it's about Outreach. Kids are picked up in a school bus that was donated to the ministry. A lot of them just want to get away from home where life is not really that great. It is our hope to reach both the kids and the parents because there is no God, Jesus, in their lives that would be the game changer," according to Brother Bear. "We find them, some happy, some sad, but we just love them all."

Busy, busy, busy is a refrain heard and known to all concerned with the Fire House Student Ministry. "We are coming off a very successful Pancake Breakfast," said Brandy LaFontaine. Plans are being made to raise funds to attend Kids Across America (KAA) Camp in Golden, Missouri. About 25 students will travel and attend the camp which will cost about $5,000. A Crawfish Boil fundraiser is set for June 8th at the train Depot in Bay St. Louis. More information about this and other fundraisers will be found on our Hancock County NAACP Facebook Page.

NAACP Branch President said, "I think the Firehouse is doing a wonderful service for our youth. They provide extra supports needed for our young people in a community with limited resources. The NAACP is proud to partner with the group as some of our short term programs are geared to youth education in and outside of the classroom. The NAACP is planning it's first Teen Summit this summer and the Fire House youth along with other children will be involved."

To join the Hancock County NAACP branch in supporting the Fire House Youth Ministry or to find out how you can help, call Brandy LaFontaine at (228) 216-6500.

JOE, "JO JO", HEITZMANN

On Monday, May 27, 2019 Joe, "Jo Jo", Heitzmann passed away peacefully surrounded by his family.

Joe graduated from Bay High in 1986 then went on to Pearl River Jr. College and graduated with honors in Metal Trades. He was employed by Cuevas Machine Co. in Poplarville, MS.

Joe was a very loving father to his three sons, Lil Joe, Zach and Adam. They all had the gift of music in their blood. Wherever his sons were performing, you would find Joe. Joe was an excellent drummer and played with several local musicians. Joe loved getting together with his friends and family members to play music.

He was also a well known Saints & LSU fan. His love for the Saints & LSU was undeniable. If the Saints & LSU were playing, Joe was in front of his big TV. Football season will never be the same without 'Smokin' Jo' as he was known to many of his friends and family during this time. When you talk about cars and speed, then Joe was right there too. He was involved with drag racing and vintage cars as well. You could find him at the race track on any given weekend.

When it came to family, there was nothing better than a good ole' crab or crawfish boil and they will never be the same without him.

Joe loved his entire family very much. Surrounded by his four sisters and one brother, Joe had lots of hugs to give. Never did he step into a room without greeting everyone with hugs, kisses and handshakes. That was Joe's true spirit.

Joe was preceded in death by his mother, Linda Dunnam Penrose, grandparents Henry and Dorothy Heitzmann, Mary Catherine Coleman Roofner (Hal) and Homer Dunnam (Lydia).

Joe was survived in death by his father, Henry "Jay" Heitzmann, II (Naomi), step-father Norvin Penrose, Jr., sons Joseph R. Heitzmann, Zachary M. Heitzmann and Adam H. Heitzmann, sisters Michele Heitzmann Moseley (Billy), Mary Catherine Penrose Mitchell (Jimmy), Helen Penrose Haas (Scott), Belle Penrose Davis, brother Jason Heitzmann (Paige), and many nieces, nephews and great nieces and nephews who were all very close to 'Uncle Jo Jo'.

Special thanks to the staff at Ochsners Hancock, Ochsners Main, first responders of Waveland, MS, and to Reverend Chris Klingenfus, Main Street Methodist Church, Bay St. Louis, MS, and Father Jacob Matthew Smith, OFM, of St. Clare Church of Waveland, MS.

Our hearts are lighter today knowing that our Jo Jo is at peace in the arms of his mother and our dear Lord.

Visitation will be held at Edmond Fahey Funeral Home in Bay St. Louis, MS. Friday, May 31 from 10:00 am until 12 noon. Interment will be at Gardens of Memory Cemetery in Bay St. Louis.

Daigle commented on Weber, "I am very excited for William and I am glad he is getting a chance to compete at the next level. The leadership role he took on this year was key to our success, and his work ethic was unmatched."

Hit em High, Hit em Low

We have been doing a lot of redfishing lately. Typically, spring-time for us means TROUT, TROUT, TROUT. Between the low salinity and the occasional windy outings, the redfish have been saving the day for us.

Almost all of the areas we have been fishing have been in 2 feet of water. I was out a couple of days ago working a marshy shoreline. I was throwing a Boat Monkey popping cork with 2 feet of leader and a 1/0 khale hook with live bait. We were catching redfish, and staying busy. Capt Matt and Capt Kenny were a couple hundred yards away. They were fishing the same shore

SHORE THING FISHING REPORT

by Capt. Sonny Schindler

line, in the same water depth. They were both out fishing my boat 3 to 1.

It took a few minutes, but I realized they were both on the bottom. I didn't think it would've made that much of a difference, but boy did it. We switched 2 of our rods to bottom rigs and whammy, we were slinging reds over the side.

We still kept a rod or two rigged on the corks, but on this particular day, the bottom was the top producer.

The lesson learned here, was don't be afraid to mix things up. Be sure to cover ALL of the water column. Sometimes it can be in a just of foot of water that makes all the difference.

Mississippi to Receive $254,000 from EPA for Beach Water Quality Monitoring

SEA COAST ECHO

Atlanta — As the nation heads into the summer beach season, the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) has begun awarding up to $9.24 million across 39 states, territories and tribes to develop and implement beach monitoring and notification programs. Upon meeting the eligibility requirements, Mississippi will receive $254,000.

“Ensuring Americans have clean water for drinking and recreation is a national priority for the Trump Administration, and EPA is doing its part to make sure our coastal and Great Lakes waters are clean and healthy for beachgoers this summer,” said EPA Administrator Andrew Wheeler. “These grants will increase public information about water quality at our beaches and help our state and local partners conduct testing and address potential sources of contamination.”

“Beach grants enable our partners in Mississippi to have the tools and resources they need to ensure that communities can keep their beaches safe and enjoyable for all,” said EPA Acting Region 4 Administrator Mary S. Walker.

Under the Beaches Environmental Assessment and Coastal Health (BEACH) Act, EPA awards grants to eligible state, territorial and tribal applicants to help them and their local government partners monitor water quality at coastal and Great Lakes beaches. When bacteria levels are too high for safe swimming, these agencies notify the public by posting beach warnings or closing the beach. Since 2002, state and local governments, territories and tribes have used nearly $167 million in EPA

BEACH Act grants to monitor beaches for fecal indicator bacteria, maintain and operate public notification systems, identify local pollution sources, and report results of monitoring and notification activities to EPA.

As part of EPA’s efforts to better protect Americans who plan to swim and play in or near the water the summer, the agency recently issued recommendations for water quality criteria and swimming advisory values for two cyanotoxins. Algal blooms caused by cyanobacteria sometimes produce cyanotoxins that can be harmful to people recreating in or on the water when present above certain concentrations. EPA’s recommendations are available for states to consider if they develop water quality standards or local swimming advisories for cyanotoxins. EPA also released infographics that states and communities can use to communicate basic information about harmful algal blooms (HABs) to the public. States, tribes and waterbody managers can download handout- and poster-sized infographic files, along with instructions on how to add local contact information, from EPA’s newly refreshed Cyanobacterial HABs website

For specific information on grants under the BEACH Act, grant guidance, and contact information for state and local beach programs, visit www.epa.gov/beach-tech/beach-grants.

To check on the latest closings and advisories at particular beaches, the public should contact the relevant state, tribal or territorial beach program listed at www.epa.gov/beaches/state-territorial-tribal-and-epa-beach-program-contacts.

Biloxi, Miss. – Mississippi’s Red Snapper season will open for private recreational anglers and state for-hire vessels on at 12:01 a.m. on Friday, May 24, in state and federal waters.

The season will be open seven days a week and will run through September 2 at 11:59 p.m. with a mid-season closure from July 8 – 28. This closure will help ensure the state’s annual quota is not met before Labor Day and will allow MDMR staff to analyze all data from the first segment of the season.

Private recreational anglers can fish out to 200 nautical miles. Vessels with state for-hire permits can fish in state territorial waters, which is nine nautical miles from the barrier islands.

The season will close if the assigned quota for recreational fishermen or state for-hire fishermen is reached at any point after the season opens. It will also close if the Gulf-wide quota is reached.

All anglers are required to register their trips through MDMR’s Tails n’ Scales program, which is available through a smartphone app, a website and a call center. Anglers must have a trip number when they are out on the water and close out that trip before creating a new one.

The data collected in the Tails n’ Scales program allows MDMR fisheries managers to closely monitor the harvest in near real-time while still allowing Mississippi anglers more opportunity and greater flexibility to harvest Red Snapper.

As a reminder, anglers caught fishing for Red Snapper without a trip authorization number will be fined and Marine Patrol officers will confiscate their fish.

The Tails n’ Scales app is available in iTunes and Google Play, and the website is tailsnscales.org. Fishermen can call 228-697-5762 or 228-234-9109 if they need to report any issues with the app.

Anyone using the app must download the latest update before creating a trip this year.

The Mississippi Department of Marine Resources is dedicated to enhancing, protecting and conserving marine interests of the state by managing all marine life, public trust wetlands, adjacent uplands and waterfront areas to provide for the optimal commercial, recreational, educational and economic uses of these resources consistent with environmental concerns and social changes. Residents and visitors will soon be saying “I’ll meet you under the clock.” A large heritage-design street clock will be unveiled at noon on Wednesday, March 29th, at the corner of Beach Boulevard and Main Street, Bay St. Louis. All are invited to attend the short dedication ceremony.

The Rotary Club of Bay St. Louis raised $22,000 to purchase the large Seth Thomas replica post clock. The City of Bay St. Louis collaborated to secure an appropriate spot on the streetscape for the four-faced clock. Hancock Whitney Bank is providing the electricity to power the clock. Lightning Quick Signs and Bell Electric donated their services to install the clock. Moses Electric completed the electrical hook-ups.

“This was truly a collaborative effort,” said former club president Teri Velardi who came up with the town clock idea several years ago as a way to celebrate the local Rotary Club’s nine decades of community service. “We’re proud to give the city another jewel to add to Old Town’s charm. It’s designed to fit in with the character of the historic district.”

The Rotary Club of Bay St. Louis was established in 1925 and is one of the nation’s oldest service clubs. Its 85 members serve Hancock County communities and non-profits by raising funds through signature events such as the Chili Cook-Off and Ripple in the Bay. MAC Minigrants Available, Apply before June 3

The Mississippi Arts Commission is now accepting applications for the agency's Minigrant program. The application deadline is Monday, June 3, 2019. Each year, MAC offers two opportunities to apply for a Minigrant to assist with small-scale arts projects around the state. The next opportunity to apply for a Minigrant will be October 2019, with a deadline of Nov. 1, 2019.

Minigrants for organizations are designed to meet a wide variety of needs in Mississippi communities, schools and arts organizations, and they stimulate arts projects in rural and under-served communities. Non-profit organizations or local government entities may apply for up to $1,000 to support a presentation by members of MAC's Artist Roster. Arts organizations may use the funds to hire a consultant or support professional development efforts. An organization may receive one Minigrant per fiscal year.

Professional-level artists may apply through the Artist Minigrant program for up to $500 to support promotion and marketing efforts, attend a professional development workshop or purchase art supplies.

An organization or artist may receive one Minigrant per fiscal year, which runs from July 1 to June 30. Complete grant guidelines and criteria are available on MAC's website at arts.ms.gov or call 601-359-6030 for more details. First-time applicants are strongly encouraged to speak with MAC staff member about their project before submitting an application.

The Mississippi Arts Commission (MAC) is a state agency serving more than two million people through grants and special initiatives that enhance communities, assist artists and arts organizations, promote arts education and celebrate Mississippi's cultural heritage. MAC is funded by the Mississippi Legislature, the National Endowment for the Arts, the Mississippi Endowment for the Arts at the Community Foundation of Greater Jackson and other private sources. For more information, visit www.arts.ms.gov

Rummage sale scheduled at Ruth's Roots on June 8

SEA COAST ECHO

Elise Deano will host a rummage sale on June 8 at her law office to benefit Ruth's Roots, the fabulous community garden she and volunteers started three years ago.

"Please consider donating your spring cleaning items to us," Deano said. "Clean out your attic, your storage shed, your garage! Items can be dropped off at my office. Thank you to those that have already dropped off!"

"We are accepting everything. However, clothing is difficult to display and organize. We will gladly accept your clothing, but here is what we are doing with it: 1.). Children's clothing will be passed on to Kimberly Marquar Adam-Boushie who runs a clothing closet for foster kids. Often children are dropped off with no clothing or just one outfit and the foster parents are left scrambling to find clothes. This will help the children and the foster parents and makes my heart happy;

2.). Men and Women's work clothes (suits, dress slacks, blouses, button-downs, etc.) will be given to Karen Stobbs Aderer to put at USM's clothing closet for folks entering or returning to the workplace that need outfits; and 3.) all other clothing will be given to Jacob's Well thrift store (Jossette Staten Thompson, Susan Haynes Johnson) Their sales support the recovery center they run for both men and women. I have a passion for helping people overcome addiction, and these folks and their work/mission is amazing."

For more information, visit the Facebook page "Ruth's Roots".
